Forecast Discussion

Pollution levels stayed in the Good AQI range yesterday and today shouldn't be much different. Looking at the weather, we do expect some breezy winds today. Tomorrow, a low pressure system will move through southern Arizona tomorrow, which will bring chances for rain. After tomorrow, weather conditions are forecast to settle back down for a few days.

When it comes to air quality, we don't anticipate any major issues. Pollution levels are forecast to be lowest tomorrow with the rain, but overall, all pollutants are forecast to easily stay in the Good AQI category through the forecast period.
